PREFACE.

THROUGH the unwearied Industry and increasing Opulence of the Inhabitants of this Kingdom, the Roads in every Part of it are made so convenient for Travelling, that they are the Admiration of Foreigners, and the Pride of the Natives.

An easy Communication with every Part of the Kingdom being thus opened, the Traveller, accommodated with the most effential Requisites for the Performance of his Journey, has nothing left to desire but such a Pocket-Companion as might best direct him in the Way he would choose to go. This we have in Part already supplied him with, by the New and Accurate Description of the Roads.

To compleat our Plan, by giving the Traveller every Affistance that he might possibly want, we have compiled with great Labour, and we trust with much Accuracy, this Second Part, which, although rendered so commodious, comprises above FIFTY THOUSAND Distances. These are digested in so simple and plain a Manner, that the Number of Miles any Place is distant from another, may be discovered with as much Ease and Expedition as two Words can be found in a common Dictionary; a Work hitherto much wanted, and only to be supplied by a tedious, and in many Instances, fruitless Search into Books and Maps, which not being portable, are of no Use, when there is most Occasion for their Assistance. Though the Advantages of these Tables are sufficiently obvious. yet we may observe, that they will be found useful to the Trader at Home, as well as the Traveller on the Road. The Trader will, on Inspection, inform himself of the intermediate Distance of any two Places, and thereby judge how to convey his Orders with the most Expedition, and least Expence. The Traveller will find the Compais he must make to visit any Place or Places which he may be defirous of taking in the Course of his Journey; and likewise will be enabled, at fetting out, to form an Estimate of his Time and Expence, by calculating with the greatest Exactness the Number of Miles he must travel, though the Tour he proposes to make should be ever so much about or irregular. Those who have experienced how various, and often irreconcileable, have been the best Accounts they could procure of the Distance of Places on their Journey, and how vexatious in their Confequences, will readily acknowledge the Utility of a Work of this Kind,

PREFACE

To find the Distance between any two Places, the following general Rule must be constantly observed:

As the Names of Places on the Top of the Page, as well as those down the Side, are disposed Alphabetically, that Place, which in Order of the Alphabet comes first, must be always looked for on the Top, and the other on the Side of the Page. Thus, to find the Distance between Warwick and Leicester, look for Leicester in the Top Columns, and Warwick in the Side; —between Cambridge and Oxford, look for Cambridge on the Top, and Oxford on the Side; and fo on in every Instance.

Let us suppose a Traveller, who being at York, wants to go to Huntingdon: Huntingdon coming in Alphabetical Order before York, he looks for that Place in the Top of the Pages, by turning them over till he comes to Letter H, where he finds Huntingdon between Hu—Ki; turning then his Eye down the Pages for York, he will find in the Line even with York, and directly under Huntingdon, the Figures 136, which is the Number of Miles York is distant from Huntingdon. But suppose further, that he should wish to take Lincoln in his Way, and would know how much his Journey would be increased thereby; proceeding in the same Manner, he finds the Distance from York to Lincoln to be 72 Miles, and from Lincoln to Huntingdon 71, which added together make 143 Miles, or 7 more than the direct Road from York to Huntingdon.

As all the Towns, &c. in the different Tables are only Repetitions of those in the first; the Names of the Counties are added to that Table only, so that the County any Town is situated in may be known by referring to the first Table, where also may be seen which Place is given in the Table when there are others of the same Name; as for Instance, from Nottingham to Richmond is found to be 123 Miles; but not knowing whether it is Richmond in Yorkshire, or Richmond in Surry that is given, the first Table shews it is the former; and thus of Atherstone in Warwickshire, and Atherstone in Worcestershire; Bromley in Kent, and Bromley in Staffordshire, and several others, where only one of the Name is given in the Tables; but where two or more Places of the same Name are given, the Distinction is given with them, and carried on through the whole; as Newport, Isle of Wight, Newport, Moumouthshire, Newport Pagnel, Newport, Pembrokeshire, &c.

N. B. The Distances from London to all the Cities, Boroughs, Market, and Sea-port Towns in England and Wales, are given in the First Part of the Book of Roads; to which Recourse must be had when the Distance to or from London is required.
